CHALLENGE: Invite someone to a personal or family activity

MONTHLY CHALLENGE:

For each week in the month of November, take the time to invite someone who doesn't have a personal relationship with Jesus to a personal or family activity. It is easy to be hesitant when hosting or inviting others into your life. In your invitation, be specific and thoughtful about things they would enjoy. Remember that this is an opportunity to nurture relationships and create meaningful connections. May they see Christ in you, and may that lead to gospel conversations so they may come to have a personal relationship with Jesus.

INSPIRATION:

- Connection over perfection: Having the picture-perfect setting and the yummiest food is less important than connecting with them and enjoying quality time.
- Co-host with a friend: If you feel unsure about hosting, consider teaming up with a friend! Use teamwork to your advantage.
- Use what you have: Whether it's small, cluttered, or not decorated to your standards, focus on what matters. You don't need a huge, fancy space to host well or make someone feel welcome and loved.
- Let them bring someone: Offering for them to bring a friend can make the invitation feel more flexible and less daunting.

WEEK 1	Use the space in the calendar to notate who and when you spoke with someone that week as an accountability tool for yourself as well as a way to look back on your year of #LiveOutward. Check our campus websites for details about campus events. If you need help learning how to share your faith in Jesus, text SHARE to 89449. We have tools to help as you look for people to share your faith with people around you.			As part of #liveoutward, let's keep our eyes open for anyone in need of a blessing and invite them to reserve a Thanksgiving Blessing Blitz meal box. Together, we can show Christ's love through simple, practical acts that meet needs and remind others they are seen and valued this holiday season.		1	2
